Whistleblowing Policy

1. Introduction

- 1.1 Crompton House Church of England C of E Multi Academy Trust is committed to openness, probity and accountability. It expects employees and others with serious concerns about the Trust or its academies' work to come forward and voice them.
- 1.2 This policy encourages and enables employees to raise serious concerns inside the Trust rather than ignore the concerns or disclose them outside.
- 1.3 The policy respects confidentiality and helps employees to raise concerns without fear of reprisal.
- 1.4 Whistle blowing legislation is in place to protect workers from dismissal or victimisation at work in the event that they disclose some sort of wrongdoing to the employer or another appropriate body.

The Public Interest Disclosure Act 1998 and Employment Rights Act 1996 clearly define what types of disclosure qualify employees for protection against dismissal and detrimental treatment by your employer. These are known as 'protected disclosures'.

A qualifying disclosure can relate to any one of the following:

- A criminal offence
- A miscarriage of justice
- An act creating risk to health and safety
- Sexual Harassment
- An act causing damage to the environment
- A breach of any other legal obligation is being, has been, or is likely to be, committed.

A disclosure will also be protected if the information disclosed is of a nature that shows that any of the above is likely to be deliberately concealed.

- 1.5 This policy covers serious concerns employees may have that
 - colleagues or the local school governing body or Trust Board are acting unlawfully
 - colleagues or the local school governing body or Trust Board are breaching its operational or financial rules.
- 1.6 This policy is supported locally by the trades unions and professional associations.

- 1.7 This policy provides guidance on how issues should be raised with the Trust or with the individual academy. This does not preclude any employee from reporting an issue with the police in conjunction with the whistleblowing process where it is believed that criminal activity is involved.
- 1.8 Other procedures exist to register a grievance about an employee's own employment. If an employee has an individual complaint relating to their employment, for example, their contract of employment, pay, conditions, this should be raised under the Trust's Grievance Policy.

2 How to raise a concern.

- 2.1 The first step depends on the seriousness and sensitivity of the issues involved and who is thought to be involved. Whenever possible, employees should normally raise concerns with their immediate manager or superior. If an employee believes that management is involved, they should approach the Chair of the Local Governing Board.

Usually, the earlier the concern is expressed, the easier it is to take action.

- 2.2 Employees will not be expected to prove the wrongdoing, but will need to demonstrate to the person contacted that there are sufficient grounds for concern.
- 2.3 Concerns should be raised in writing, which could be by email.
- 2.4 If an employee does not feel able to put the concern in writing, they can discuss this by telephone or meet a designated person at the school. Please email any individual below giving contact details and they will respond to you by telephone.

- 2.5 If the whistleblower considers the matter too serious or sensitive to raise within the internal environment of the Trust, the matter should be directed in the first instance to the Education Skills Funding Agency.
- 2.6 The final route is to invite a trade union or a professional association to raise the matter through the Trust’s whistle blowing procedure on the employee’s behalf.

3 Safeguards

3.1 The Trust recognises that the decision to report a concern can be a difficult one to make, not least because of the fear of reprisal from those responsible for the malpractice. The Trust will not tolerate harassment or victimisation and will do what it lawfully can to protect employees when they raise a concern in the public interest. In this context, the following safeguards are in place:

3.2 Harassment or Victimisation

The Trust will not tolerate harassment or victimisation by those involved with the matters of concern or from others. It will take action to protect employees when they raise a concern in the public interest. The Trust takes its responsibilities in this seriously as it is responsible as the employer for any detriment caused.

Due regard and sensitivity will be exercised by all involved in the process to ensure that employees do not suffer detrimental treatment as a result of raising a complaint.

If employees are already the subject of disciplinary or redundancy procedures, those procedures will not be halted as a result of an employee whistleblowing.

3.3 Anonymous Allegations

This policy as a whole encourages employees to put their name to the allegation.

Although concerns expressed anonymously are much less powerful they will be considered taking into account:

- The seriousness of the issues raised
- The credibility of the concern

- The likelihood of confirming the allegation from other, attributable, sources.

Clearly, employees will be unable to be told the outcome of any investigation of a concern which was brought forward anonymously.

3.4 Confidentiality

The Trust will do its best to protect employee identity when they raise a concern and do not want their name to be disclosed.

It is important to note that the investigation process may ultimately need to reveal the employee as the source of information. On some occasions a statement by the employee may be required as part of the evidence.

3.5 Untrue Allegations

If an employee makes an allegation in the public interest but it is not confirmed by the investigation, no action will be taken against the employee.

If, however, an employee makes malicious allegations or repeated allegations which have no foundation, disciplinary action will be taken against the employee.

4 How the Trust will respond.

4.1 The action taken by the Trust will depend on the nature of the concern. The matters raised may:

- Be investigated internally
- Be referred to the Police
- Be referred to the External Auditor
- Form the subject of an independent inquiry.

4.2 To protect individuals and the Trust, initial enquiries will be made to decide whether an investigation is appropriate and, if so, what form it should take. Most matters will, initially, be investigated internally. Concerns or allegations which fall within the scope of specific current procedures (for example, child protection or discrimination issues) will normally be dealt with through those routes.

- 4.3 Within ten working days of a concern being received, the school or Trust will write to the employee:
- Acknowledging that the concern has been received
 - Indicating how it proposes to deal with the matter
 - Giving an estimate of how long it will take to provide a final response
 - Informing the employee as to whether any initial enquiries have been made
 - Informing the employee as to whether further investigations will take place and, if not, why not.
- 4.4 Some concerns may be resolved by immediate action without the need for an investigation.
- 4.5 The amount of contact between the Officer(s) considering the issues and the employee will depend on the nature of the matters raised, the potential difficulties involved and the amount and clarity of the information the employee provided. If necessary, further information will be sought.
- 4.6 When any meeting is arranged with the employee as a whistle blower, they have the right to be accompanied by a Union or professional association representative, or a colleague who is not involved in the area of work to which the concern relates.
- 4.7 The Trust will act as necessary to minimise any difficulties which employees may experience as a result of raising a concern. For instance, if later, employees are required to give evidence in criminal or disciplinary proceedings, the council will advise the employee directly as to the procedure.
- 4.8 The Trust accepts that employees need to be assured that the matter has been properly addressed so, subject to legal constraints, the employee will receive information about the outcomes of any investigations.

5 How the matter can be taken further.

This policy is intended to provide employees with an avenue to raise concerns and to have them resolved inside the Trust.

The Trust hopes its investigations, and the action arising from them, will satisfy. If not, and the employee feels it is right to take the matter outside the Trust, the following are possible contact points:

- The external Auditor; UHY Hacker Young

- The Department for Education or the Education Skills Funding Agency
- Relevant professional bodies or regulatory organisations
- The employee's solicitor
- The Police
- The Ombudsman

If employees do feel it necessary to take a matter outside the Trust they must ensure that they do not disclose confidential information. The law on disclosure is complex. Further additional information and advice can be obtained from the charity Public Concern at Work. This charity offers free legal advice in certain circumstances to people concerned about serious malpractice at work. Their literature states that matters are handled in strict confidence and without obligation. Contact details for the charity are as follows:

6 Conclusion

Existing good practice within the Trust and its academies in terms of its systems of internal control both financial and non-financial and the external regulatory environment in which the Trust operates ensure that cases of suspected fraud or impropriety rarely occur. This whistleblowing policy is provided as a reference document to establish a framework within which issues can be raised confidentially internally and if necessary outside the management structure of the Trust. This document is a public commitment that concerns are taken seriously and will be actioned.
